On February 15, D. McWilliams Kessler, President of The New York Eye & Ear Infirmary, rang the opening bell of The New York Stock Exchange to herald Low Vision Awareness Month and the February 25 opening of The New York Eye & Ear Infirmary Ear Institute. Mr. Kessler was joined at the bell podium by Ronald A. Hoffman, MD, Professor and Clinical Director of The Ear Institute, along with Steven D. Schaefer, MD, Professor and Chairman of Otolaryngology, Simon Parisier, MD, Founder of The Children's Hearing Institute, and Joseph Walsh, MD, Professor and Chairman of Ophthalmology. Opening and closing bell ringing is usually reserved for corporate CEO's, heads of state and celebrities, so we are really excited about this rare privilege for a non-profit organization to be represented.

Little Peri Meltzer Seeks Hearing- Impaired Pen Pal

Peri Meltzer is the seven-year old daughter of Amy and Brian Meltzer. In the December 2007 edition of Echoes we featured Amy's story, in which she describes her surgery for acoustic neuroma and resulting hearing loss. Amy and Brian are generous supporters of The Children's Hearing Institute and avid readers of Echoes, and we are happy to help find a pen pal for Peri. Her phone number is 845-406-4793.

The proclamation was accepted by D. Honorable Carolyn B. Maloney, New York Congresswoman, and Honorable Scott Stringer, Manhattan Borough President, lauded The New York Eye & Ear Infirmary for creating a key medical resource to make New York proud. Ronald A. Hoffman, MD, Ear Institute Clinical Director and Practice Manager, cited the Ear Institute as a dream come true for kids who are hearing-impaired. He was joined by Jane R. Madell, PhD, Director, Ear Institute Hearing & Learning Center and Simon

C. Parisier, MD, Founder, The Children's Hearing Institute.

The ribbon cutting was led by Dr. Max Gomez, WCBS-TV and DJ Jenn, Disney Radio AM 1560, assisted by children and adults with cochlear implants and/or hearing aids, including Amanda Bowman, Meir Cheplowitz, Molly Kestenbaum, Juliet McCarthy, Lenny Meranus, Sincere Riddick, Ryan Seth, Katis Soares dos Santos, and Brendan Vasanth. Generous donors who made naming gifts to the Ear Institute were treated to tours of the new center. These donors included Violeta and Stephen Paluszek, Jan and Charles Bruno, the Kestenbaum family, CHI board members Susan and Robert Klein, and Scott Fishman, Jerry Fishman, and Jack Kampf of The Needlers Foundation.
